Alida and Jim were alone all the morning. They did not again refer to what they knew would happen. He read his old paper and she put her house in order. It was meet to have things seemly in the house of the dead. And every time she glanced at Jim she repressed the desire to fling herself on his breast and cry out the anguish that consumed her.

At noon she brought the children home to dinner, and afterward Jim taught them to throw the lasso and played buffalo with them. Alida did not trust herself to watch them. She stayed in the kitchen and saw the sunbeam grow pale with the waning of the day, the day whose minutes dragged like lead, yet had rushed from her, leaving her the night to face. At sundown she cooked supper, but she no longer knew what she did. A crazy agility had taken possession of her, and she spun about the kitchen, doing the same errand many times, finding herself doing always something different from that she had set about doing. The wretched day was burning itself out like a fever. Hot gusts of air beat up from the earth, but the woman who waited felt chilled to the marrow and took a cloak down from a peg and wrapped it about her while she waited for the biscuit to bake.

At supper they sat down together, the man and his wife and their three children. The children were in fine spirits from the fun they had had that afternoon. Never had daddy been so nice to them. He had taught Topeka to throw the lasso so well that she had caught the cat once and little Jim twice, and daddy had played he was a buffalo and had charged them all with his head down till they screamed in terror. But daddy seemed more quiet through the meal, and once mother started up and cried:

"What's that?"

She ran to the door with her hand pressed to her side, but daddy called after her:

"Don't you know the cowards better than that? They'll wait for night-fall."

But these things had not worried the

Bars Men from Employment

Every line of business is beginning to shut its doors absolutely to drinking men. Business competition has become keen that only men of steadfast habits can find employment.

Employers do not want men that are addicted to drink. A drinking man is not in fit condition to handle responsible work. Continued drinking diseases the nerve system. No "will power" can cure; treatment is necessary.

children, with their heads full of playing buffalo and throwing the lariat.

"Jim," said his father before they went to bed, "remember you are the man of the family." But young Jim was already nodding with sleep. Topeka and Judith were sleepy too. They kissed their father and were glad to go to bed.

The night began menacingly to close over the wilderness. All day the dry, burning heat had quivered over the desert, like hot air waves flickering over a bed of live coals, and now the very earth seemed to palpitate with the intensity of its fever. Each sound of the desert night Alida translated into the tramping of horses' feet; then as the sound would die away or prove to be but some night noise of the wilderness the pallor would lose its pliancy on her features and she would stare into her husband's face with eyes that did not see. Jim smoked his pipe and refilled it, smoked and filled again, but gave no sign of the object of his waiting.

"Jim," she said when the clock had struck 10, then 11, "I am going to fasten up the house."

"Do you hear them?" he asked, without emotion, but as one who deferred to the finer senses of women.

She shook her head, not trusting herself to speak.

He looked at the door that was shrunken and warped from the heat till it barely held together, and there was no measure to the tenderness he put into his words:

"Oh, you poor little fool! Do you think you could keep them out by fastening that?"

"Jim, I must." And her voice broke. "They may think you are not here, that it's only me and the children, and that's why the house is fastened."

She got up and began to move about as though her thought scoured her to action, even if futile. He shook the ashes from his pipe.

"Do anything you blame please," he said more by way of humoring her than from faith in her stratagem. He felt strong enough to face his destiny, to meet it in a way worthy of his mother's people.

Alida seemed under a spell in her preparations for the night. Each thing she did as she had done it in her dream the night before. It was as if she were constrained by a power greater than her will to fulfill a sinister prophecy. Yet now and then she would stop and wonder if she might not break the spell by doing things differently from the way she had dreamed them. Her hand grasped the knob of the door uncertainly and she swung it to and fro on its creaking hinges, while her mind seemed likewise to sway hither and thither. Should she fasten the door and push the bureau against it, as it had been in the dream, or should she leave door and windows gaping wide for them? And then, as one who walks and does familiar things in sleep, she shut the door and turned the key. Jim smiled at her, but she could no longer look at him. One of the children waited fretfully from the room beyond. Sleep had become a scourge in the stifling heat. One by one she lowered the windows and nailed them down. Then she dragged the brown bureau against the door, took the brace of six shooters from the wall and sat down with Jim to wait.

"What are you going to do with them boys?" he asked as he saw her examine the chambers of one of the six shooters.

"You ain't going to let yourself be caught like a rat in a hole, are you?" she reproached him.

"Ain't we agreed that it's best to keep unpleasant family matters from the kids?" He smiled at her bravely. "The remembrance of what we're anticipating ain't goin' to help young Jim to get to congress when his time comes, nor it ain't goin' to help the girls get good husbands either. This here country ain't what it was in the way of liberality since it's got to be a state."

"Sh sh sh," she said. "Is that the range cattle stampedin' after water, or is it?" They listened. The furniture in the room crackled. There was not a fiber of it to which the resistless heat had not penetrated. On the range the cattle bellowed in their thirst torture. In the intervals of their cries sounded something far off, but regular as the thumping of a ship's screw. The woman did not need an answer to her question. The steady tramping of hoofs came muffled through the dead air, but the sound was unmistakable. She put her arms about the man's neck and crushed him to her with all her woman strength. "Oh, Jim, you've been a good man to me!"

"Steady—steady!" He strained her close to him. "They'd be, by the sound of them, on the straight bit of road now before the turn. Soon we'll hear their hoofs ring hollow as they cross the plank bridge."

His plainsman's faculty was as keen as ever. His calculation of the horse-men's distance was made as though he were the least concerned. All Alida's courage had gone with the dread thing at hand.

"They're sober, all right enough."

"How do you know?"

"They'd be cursing and bellowing if they were drunk."

The hoofs rang hollow on the little plank bridge that crossed the ditch about a stone's throw from the door. Not a word was said either within or without. The lynchmen seemed to have drilled for their part. There was no whispering, no deferring to a leader. On they came, so close that Jim and Alida could hear the creaking of their saddles. There was the clank of spurs and the straining of leather as they dismounted. Then some one knocked at the door till the warped boards rattled.

Jim could feel the thudding of Alida's heart as she clung to him, but when the knock was repeated a new courage came to her, and she left Jim and went on her knees close to the outer wall.

"Jim, is that you?" she called. And now every sense was trained to battle. Her voice had even a sleepy cadence, as if she had been suddenly roused.

"That won't do at all, Miz Rodney. We know you got Jim in there just as certain as we're out here, and we want him to come out, and we'll do the thing square; otherwise he can take the consequences."

Jim opened his mouth to speak, but she, still on her knees beside the wall, gained his silence by one supplicating gesture. There was a sleepy, fretful cry from the room beyond. The noise had roused one of the children.

"Sh-sh, dear," she called. "It's only a bad dream. Go to sleep again. Mother is here."

Through the warped door came sounds of the whispering voices without, drowned by the shrieking bellow of the cattle. There was not a breath of air in the suffocating room. Jim bent toward Alida:

"I'm goin' out 'em. They'll do it square over on the cottonwoods. This rumpus 'll only wake the kids."

But she shook her head imploringly, putting her finger to her lips as a sign that he was not to speak, and he had not the heart to refuse, though knowing that she made a desperate situation worse.

STRIKE NEARS END

Pleading Wives of Petersburg Unemployed Demand a Halt.

ABANDON THE STRIKE

Conservative Workmen Maintain That the Present General Strike Is a Strategic Mistake.

Large Portion of the Strikers Are Breaking Loose and Leaders Are Losing Control.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 18.—According to a report the emperor has received a dispatch from General Linevitch, telling him of a revolt among the troops in the far East which was only suppressed after a regular fight in which many soldiers were killed or wounded. Forty-two officers are reported to have been shot for participation in the conspiracy. No confirmation is obtainable.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 18.—Though, according to surface indications yesterday, the outlook for the speedy ending of the strike was gloomy, the revelations made at a meeting last night of the council of the workmen's delegates showed that a large portion of the workmen were breaking loose from the control of the leaders and were anxious to return to work, and a plebiscite which will be taken today in various factories probably will result in a decision to abandon the strike.

At the meeting of the council which was held in the same hall where Father Gapon, Maxim Gorky and other leaders denounced the emperor on the eve of Jan. 22 ("Red Sunday"), delegate after delegate from different factories arose and reported that the workmen, under the influence of the ultimatum issued by the employers, announcing the factories would be shut down indefinitely unless work was resumed on Monday, and with the pleading of their wives and of the conservative workmen ringing in their ears, were demanding that the strike should be ended.

This precipitated a hotly contested debate between the moderates, who declared that the strike in the first instance was a strategic mistake, and that it would be a graver error in tactics to attempt to force the men to remain in line, and the "last ditch" faction, especially the unattached delegates who are members of the council by virtue of their membership in socialist organizations. One fiery speaker who in order to better be seen and heard mounted the balcony from which Father Gapon in disguise had delivered his last address in that hall, thundered his denunciation of those who wished to discontinue the struggle.

"Even if we cannot continue the strike until the purposes for which it was called are attained," he said, "let us not abandon it without inflicting a real blow on the government. A three days' strike is a mere pin-prick in the hides of that crafty fox Witte and his followers, so let us keep it up for a fortnight. The men in other factories of St. Petersburg are daily joining us. Our delegates are closing the pharmacies and the railroad tie-up is complete. What a figure we will cut in the eyes of our brothers outside of St. Petersburg if, before they have had the opportunity of acting on our appeal they hear that we have laid down our arms."

After a long discussion a motion to call off the strike was rejected and it was decided to call meetings of workmen in the factories today for the purpose of laying the situation before them and to abide by their decision.

The leaders, however, were determined not to permit the strike to die without a final great demonstration of their power to render St. Petersburg a "dead city." After the adoption of the resolution calling for a referendum, it was decided to bend every effort to closing every store, market and office, beginning at 11 o'clock this morning, and stop all streetcar and carriage traffic in the streets, so as to bring the life of the Russian capital to a complete standstill. The stoppage of the electric plants which the government had succeeded in getting in partial operation, was entrusted to electrical workers in the various districts, who were empowered to use any and all means deemed advisable for the injuring of the machinery and the short-circuiting of the dynamos, even to the extent of destroying the plants.

At Moscow the railroads are still running and the telegraphers have flatly refused to consider a strike for the political aims of Poland, whose endangered liberties form the ostensible cause of the strike in St. Petersburg. Work is being resumed in Moscow and the news from other sections shows that the call of the St. Petersburg committee has awakened little sympathy.

The utterly reckless spirit manifested by the "Reds," who engineered the present strike, is producing a natural reversal of feeling, which is shared by all classes of society. The prospect of anarchy and mob rule, which would be the logical outcome of the present demoralized conditions in both the country districts and the cities, has had a sobering influence.

The lower classes, who are always on the verge of starvation, are growing bitterly angry against the agitators, who by these continued strikes are taking the bread from their mouths, and, not only without being incited by the police, but in spite of all the authorities, these classes are threatening reprisals.

CROOKED TALLY SHEETS

How the "Count Out" Game Was Conducted in New York.

New York, Nov. 18.—Alderman Timothy P. Sullivan, Tammany leader of the Sixth assembly district, appeared before the board of canvassers when it came time to examine the tally sheets of his district. He said that he felt sure no errors would be found, and he would fight all protests. The first sheet examined showed that Hearst had not been credited with thirty-three votes which were cast for him. In the third election district the returns of election night showed no vote for Hearst and thirty-three for Crawford, the Prohibition candidate, but the tally sheet showed that these votes were cast for Hearst, while the Prohibition candidate received none.

The grand jury has handed down six more indictments in the election fraud cases which they have been investigating for the past week.

Gompers Tells Federation to Get Down to Business.

Pittsburg, Nov. 18.—Notwithstanding the fact that the sessions of the American Federation of Labor seem to drag, it is stated that business is being transacted with greater dispatch than ever before and that instead of the usual fifteen days required for a convention the present meeting may be completed by Thursday of next week. President Gompers took the committee to task for apparent delays in their work, and it is believed that from now on the work of the convention will be put through with speed. The contest for next place of meeting seems to be between Toronto, Canada, and Denver, Col.

Terrible Explosion Reported.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 18.—A special from Spencer, N. C., says: "From a private telephone message received here from Marion, N. C., by way of Asheville, it is rumored that fifteen people were killed near there by the explosion of a powder magazine located just outside of town. The shock of the explosion was so great it was felt at Morgantown, twenty-one miles away."

Four Murderers Hanged.

Carson, Nev., Nov. 18.—J. P. Seyener, Fred Roberts, Al Linderman and T. S. Gorman were hanged here for the murder of Jack Welch in Humboldt county, in August, 1903. The execution took place in the shoe shop of the state prison, and there was no hitch in the program.

PLATT IS WANTED

New York Political Leader to Be Called Before Inquisitors.

THEY WANT TO KNOW

Information Is Desired Regarding the Insurance Companies' Contributions to Campaign Funds.

This Week in the Insurance Investigation Has Eclipsed All Others in Interest.

New York, Nov. 18.—With the end of yesterday's session Senator Armstrong's committee on insurance investigation finished a week that for strenuousness and importance has been eclipsed by no one week since the investigation was inaugurated. Besides being the week in which the most sessions have been held, the witnesses have been the most important, including the "big guns" in the financial world as well as in the insurance business.

Early in the week James Hazen Hyde was examined and made charges against E. H. Harriman and former Governor Odell, who successively appeared and denied Mr. Hyde's statements, and Mr. Hyde being recalled affirmed his testimony. Then Senator Chauncey M. Depew was heard, and when the session opened yesterday it was expected that before the day was over Senator Platt would be called. He is wanted to testify as to the collection of contributions to political campaign funds by the insurance companies. Mr. Odell having testified Thursday that Senator Platt collected all such moneys up to last year. It is now expected that the senator will be heard early next week, possibly on Tuesday, when the sessions will be resumed.

Frank B. Jordan, son of the former comptroller of the Equitable, who at a previous session said he did not know where his father was or whether either his father or mother was living, was called again and said that he had received a letter from his mother, who was in Canada, since he first testified, but that she said nothing, was called again and said that nothing as to the amount of fire insurance he had done for the Equitable or why he got it, but is going to supply that information later.

Samuel S. McCurdy, assistant registrar of the Equitable, and not related to the McCurdys of the Mutual Life, said he had charge of the vouchers for local service. From him was gleaned a story of trouble in California in 1897, when the insurance commissioner of that state demanded an examination. Thousands of dollars were spent by the Equitable in this matter as accounted by Mr. McCurdy, and he justified the expenditure on the ground that he would have cost the Equitable about $60,000 had no defense been made, hence the expense for counsel. He seems to think the demands of the California commissioners were exorbitant.

Senator Depew was called to give any information he might possess as to a number of vouchers for legal services, but his knowledge was rather limited, and many of the expenditures and signers of these vouchers he had never heard of.

One voucher to John A. Nichols for legal services was accompanied by a letter to Senator Depew referring to "our friend who comes around once a year," and "your rambunctious friend up the river." The senator said he knew Nichols had been retained at different times by the Equitable, but he did not know in what connection. Mr. Nichols, he said, was once quarantine commissioner and used to be active in politics.

Gage E. Tarbell was called just before recess and had hardly got started in his testimony when Senator Depew was called. When he resumed it was almost time of adjournment and Senator Armstrong announced that the sub-committee of Senator Tully and Assemblyman Cox would take the deposition of Mr. Squire at 3 o'clock, therefore no afternoon session would be held.

Mr. Tarbell told of his twenty-six years' connection with the Equitable and his activities in the interest of the policy holders. He started as a solicitor in Greene, N. Y., and later was given a general agency for the southern tier of counties of this state, with headquarters at Binghamton. He was opposed to money being spent for legislative purposes and thought the policy holders in a body could defeat any legislation inimical to their interests. He said he had tried to interest the New York Life and the Mutual Life in an agreement to appoint a committee of one to look after such matters, but the officers of the Mutual Life said it was impractical. Mr. Tarbell knew of no money expended for legislative purposes. Mr. Tarbell was on the stand when the adjournment until Tuesday was taken.

The San Domingan Situation. San Juan, Porto Rico, Nov. 18.—The United States cruiser Cleveland has arrived here from Samana Bay, Santo Domingo, and will return there immediately after coaling. Her officers say that while the discontent is widespread in Santo Domingo, no outbreaks have occurred and comparative quiet prevails.

Boys Held to Answer.

New Albany, Ind., Nov. 18.—Floyd Sinclair, Harley Dearborn and Guy Roberson, young boys, who attempted several days ago to wreck the "flyer" on the Southern railway near Eckerty by fastening a cross-tie to the rails, were bound over to await trial. It developed at the preliminary examination that the boys had been addicted to reading cheap literature.

Never Too Old.

Petersburg, Ind., Nov. 18.—James Burton, eighty years of age, and Mrs. Mary Brown, aged eighty-one, are missing, and it is thought are in search of a Gretna Green despite their extreme age. The adjoining county seats have been notified not to issue them a license, as the small pension of Burton is considered insufficient for them both.

Lost Leg on First Run.

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 18.—H. C. Price of Logansport, brakeman on the Pan-Handle railroad, fell between two cars and his left leg was severed under the wheels. When found Price was calmly dressing the wound. He was removed to a hospital at Crown Point. This was Price's first attempt at braking.

Confessed the Deed.

Linton, Ind., Nov. 18.—William Sink was shot and instantly killed at the Dichason mine, one mile north of here, by Lee Hammond. Hammond was arrested in Jasonville and brought to jail here. He admitted killing Sink. The men quarreled over alleged attentions paid to Hammond's wife by Sink.

THE STORK BRINGS JOY

To the household but how about the mother? Has she been joyful during the weeks and months preceding the advent?

Too many mothers find it a time of fearful anxiety because of the knowledge that they are "not in good health."

They have allowed weaknesses, pains and drains to accumulate till the health is completely undermined and they are "more than discouraged," and all because they have been misadvised by well-meaning friends or misinformed by an inefficient doctor.

To all such here is the news that there is a remedy that will heal and not hurt. It was discovered forty years ago by Dr. Pierce who searched Nature's laboratory—the earth, for the remedial agents so liberally provided therein. He took Lady's Slipper root, Black Cohosh root, Unicorn root, Blue Cohosh root, Golden Seal root, and by extracting, combining and preserving, without the use of alcohol, the glyceric extracts of these natural remedies, he has given to the world Dr. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION, which has to its credit the enviable and unparalleled record of more than a half-million of cures in the last forty years.

"Only those who have given Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a trial can appreciate what a boon it is to suffering women," writes Miss Vinna Seaton, of 32 Elm St., Toronto, Ont. "For two years I suffered intensely from female weakness until life was a burden to me. I had distressing, bearing-down pains so I could scarcely stand up. Had hot flashes, was very despondent, weak and utterly wretched. My physician gave me treatments but without success. I tried several remedies but obtained no relief until I began to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I began immediately to improve, and in four months' time I was as well and strong as ever."

Constipation cured by Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Conviction Follows Trial

When buying loose coffee or anything your grocer happens to have in his bin, how do you know what you are getting? Some queer stories about coffee that is sold in bulk, could be told, if the people who handle it (grocers), cared to speak out.

Could any amount of mere talk have persuaded millions of housekeepers to use the leader of all package coffees for over a quarter of a century, if they had not found it superior to all other brands in Purity, Strength, Flavor and Uniformity?

This popular success of LION COFFEE can be due only to inherent merit. There is no stronger proof of merit than continued and increasing popularity.

If the verdict of MILLIONS OF HOUSEKEEPERS does not convince you of the merits of LION COFFEE, it costs you but a trifle to buy a package. It is the easiest way to convince yourself, and to make you a PERMANENT PURCHASER.

MANY farmers were in the city today and all report that corn husking has been progressing rapidly this week. The corn is good but on account of so much of it being down much of it is damaged.

The claim for additional pay for Colonel Durbin's regiment, the 161st, will be allowed. This means that about $48,000 will be distributed. This claim was filed a long time ago and the fact that it is to be allowed is sufficient proof that it is just.

RICHARD A. MCCURDY, the president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, will have to struggle along with a salary of $75,000 a year. He has been getting $150,000 and that amount was cut in two. By prudence, economy and plain living he may be able to get through on $75,000. But if he thinks that will be too much of a hardship he can throw up the job.

The fact that Sunday hunting is contrary to law should be sufficient to keep men who respect the law from hunting on that day. It is plainly the law and should be obeyed. The temptation to violate the law of the state is sometimes pretty strong but men owe it to themselves to be strong enough to withstand temptation. Obedience to law seven days in the week is always a good trait of character.

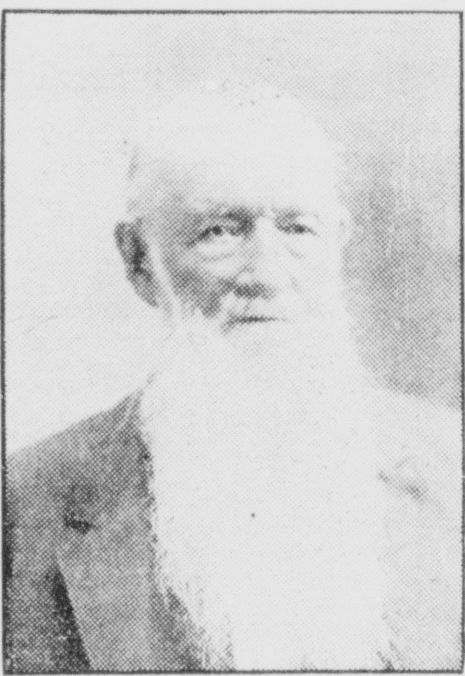

Obedience to Law.

Judge O. H. Montgomery addressed the Wesley Brotherhood and numerous other citizens at the German M. E. church Friday evening. He discussed the relation of the citizen to the law of the state and emphasized the duty of every one to be obedient to the law as it is written and interpreted. It is a duty to respect every law. No man can be a law unto himself. The rights of others and the rights of society must be regarded. The individual citizen has responsibility to bear. There should always be respect for lawfully constituted authority. The enforcement of law beyond the sentiment of the community is next to impossible. Judge Montgomery made a strong and dignified plea for respect and obedience to the law of the state and was heard with much interest and every one who heard him was benefited.

ninety-three years of age. He frequently visited his son in this city and had made numerous friends here.

Mr. Smith was born in Pennsylvania, Dec. 3, 1812. When five years old he came with his parents down the Ohio river on a flatboat. From Cincinnati they traveled in a wagon to Frankfort, Indiana, where they settled. When a young man he went to Sardinia and from that time on his home was in that vicinity. He was a successful farmer but retired a few years ago since when his home has been with his grand-daughter, a daughter of Samuel O. Smith, in Sardinia. His wife died only a few years ago after a happy married life extending over seventy years.

It was interesting to hear Mr. Smith tell of the development of the county and all branches of industry that he himself had observed. He visited the St. Louis Exposition in his ninety-second year and greatly enjoyed it. Mr. Smith was a good citizen and had a host of friends.

RAILROAD RUMBLINGS

Frank Dahlenburg, B. & O. S-W. baggage man, left last night for Liberty Mo., to spend three weeks.

B. & O. S-W. officials are inspecting the bridges, depots and other structures belonging to the system.

Leslie Brown will handle baggage at the B. & O. S-W. station until Frank Dahlenburg returns from Missouri.

John Kerr who has been employed in the U. S. Express Company office for several months has gone to Cincinnati to consider an offer from the Panhandle people.

George Doescher, who has been day man in the B. & O. S-W. ticket office, will return to Cincinnati and Thos. Kreinhagen will again take the day job. Sam Meyers will be in charge of the ticket office at night.

With the block signal system being installed by the Panhandle a telephone system will also be installed, the four instruments having arrived for this place. Each block station will be connected with the passing siding in each direction so that train men can communicate with the telegraph operator. The telephones at the sidings will be in booths to which the train men will carry keys.

Herb W. Edwards Injured.

Herb W. Edwards of Des Moines, Iowa, got a fall on an icy walk last winter, spraining his wrist and bruising his knees. 'The next day,' he says, 'they were so sore and stiff I was afraid I would have to stay in bed, but I rubbed them well with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications all soreness had disappeared.' For sale by C. W. Milhous.

When You Have a Bad Cold

You want a remedy that will not only give quick relief but effect a permanent cure.

You want a remedy that will relieve the lungs and keep expectoration easy. You want a remedy that will counteract any tendencies toward pneumonia.

You want a remedy that is pleasant and safe to take.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets all of these requirements and for the speedy and permanent cure of bad colds stands without a peer. For sale by C. W. Milhous.

NON-RESIDENTS

Heavily Fined For Violating The Game Law.

E. Cal. Martin, of Lexington Ky., and H. C. Bartlett, of Ky, have been given a taste of the Indiana game law and do not like it. They now understand that to be caught violating this law makes hunting expensive.

They were hunting in the south part of this county and over in Indiana and had not secured non-resident licenses as the law requires. E. E. Earl, deputy game warden, got trace of them and went after them as is his duty. When these hunters got off the train here Friday evening with all their hunting equipment they did not know that in a short time they would be under arrest, but that is what happened.

Saturday morning after consulting a lawyer and learning they were in for it they went before Judge Corbion and entered a plea of guilty. The fine and costs in each case amounted to $240 a total of $480 that the two had to pay.

Finger Mark or Trade Mark-

Which?

Common crackers and wafers—fingered from the time they leave the bakery until you get them in a paper bag or the Biscuit, Crackers and Wafers baked by the NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY and packed in a package with all their oven flavor, delicious freshness and high quality? Which will YOU have? If you want to answer this question once and for all, try a package of either of the three delights mentioned below:

Social Tea Biscuit

Just the thing to offer with an afternoon cup of tea—or chocolate—or coffee. In fact, they're good to eat most any time just for the pleasure of it. Sweet and slightly flavored with vanilla.

Butter Thin Biscuit

A crisp, light, dessert biscuit, rich and satisfying, served as something out of the ordinary. If you really want a biscuit that's particularly nice, try a package.

Graham Crackers

So different from the ordinary Graham Crackers—different in baking—different in flavor—different in packing. More palatable—more satisfying—more nutritious. Made of the purest Graham flour and baked in a manner that only the National Biscuit Company knows.

Ever after you will be guided by the NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY Trade Mark, in red and white, on each end of a package, whenever and wherever you buy Biscuit, Crackers and Wafers.

Surprise Party.

Miss Hazel Pruden was given a most pleasant surprise at her home at Cortland Friday evening by a number of her Seymour friends who went to her home at Cortland to assist in observing her birthday anniversary. The party was planned by her mother, Mrs. J. T. Pruden and proved delightfully successful. Some most interesting games were played and Miss Pruden at once showed herself an affable hostess. She was presented with a beautiful spoon by her girl friends. Those present were Misses Addie Reynolds, Joy Hopewell, Ruth Cole, Kittle McLaughlin, Alma Massmann, Nell Blair and Beulah Mount and Mr. Dorsey, of Edinburg. Mr. Hess, of Brownstown, Omer Shannon, Charles Phelan, Avis Hoadley, Roy Roegge, Tip Ross and Ollie Miller. Chaparrones, Mrs. Pearl DeGolyer and Miss Maud Naylor.

BEDFORD MYSTERY.

Detectives at Dayton Claim to Have New Clue.

Dr. Oliver Haugh, who is under arrest in Dayton, O., charged with the murder of his father, mother and brother and afterward cremating their bodies, is now thought to be the slayer of Miss Sarah Schafer, the Bedford school teacher, whose body was found in an alley January 22, 1904.

This belief was disclosed to the authorities in Bedford by the Dayton detectives after an investigation, in which it was learned that Haugh was in Bedford at the time of the Schafer murder. Photographs of the victim, the place where her body was found and the surroundings have been forwarded to the Dayton police, on request. The communication has caused no little excitement among the citizens of Bedford.

It is likely that the public will be skeptical about this reported clue, but the detectives should be given a free hand to sift it to the bottom. The solution of this mystery is much desired.

Officers Elected.

DRAGGING

down pains are a symptom of the most serious trouble which can attack a woman, viz: falling of the womb. With this, generally, come irregular, painful, scanty or profuse periods, wasteful, weakening drains, dreadful backache, headache, nervousness, dizziness, irritability, tired feeling, inability to walk, loss of appetite, color and beauty. The cure is that marvelous, curative extract, or natural essence, of herbs, which exerts such a wonderful strengthening influence on all female organs. Cardui relieves pain, regulates the menses, stops drains and stimulates the muscles to pull the womb up into place. It is a safe and permanent cure for all female complaints.

WRITE US A LETTER

In strictest confidence, telling us all your troubles. We will send free advice (in plain sealed envelope). Address: Ladies' Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

"I SUFFERED AWFUL PAIN

In my womb and ovaries," writes Mrs. Naomi Baker, of Webster Groves, Mo., "and my menses were very painful and irregular. Since taking Cardui I feel like a new woman, and do not suffer as I did."

Demand Is Made For Better
Observance of Law at Indianapolis.

GOVERNOR HANLY ACTS

Complaint That Beached the Executive's Power Concerning Criminals.
The Governor's Power to Pardon.

Police Commissioners Were Called Upon For An Explanation.
Told to Get Better.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 18.—There is every indication that the law will be enforced more rigidly in this city. A letter has been received by one of the city's leading lawyers, in which it was stated that a letter forwarded to the governor's office from some persons, stating that saloons were being opened on Sunday, had been received by the governor. The letter was couched in such a way as to be a challenge to the law. The governor was asked to enforce the law here, as it was being enforced at Michigan City.

The governor demanded an explanation from the police commissioners as to the conditions, and insisted that the law be enforced. The letter has caused an upheaval in the board. Thomas Hammond (Dem.), president of the board, refused to call a meeting to consider the matter, and rather than be a party thereto he will resign his position. Democratic leaders were in consultation with Mr. Hammond later, and he finally concluded not to forward his resignation till he had conferred with Mayor Lawrence Becker upon his return from Indianapolis. What view Mayor Becker will take of the matter is not known, but that the saloons will be closed for the first time in many months is a certainty.

New Game of Robbers.
New York, Nov. 18.—A thief who entered the Security Storage company's warehouse in an express package Thursday was caught yesterday as he was about to leave the warehouse, hidden in the same package along with $700 worth of stolen goods. At night he climbed out of his package and, after rifling the warehouse, again repacked himself and his plunder.

Many Vacancies In Committees.
Washington, Nov. 18.—As a result of the last congressional election there are ninety-three Democratic and sixty Republican vacancies in the membership of the committees of the house of representatives. Although many of these vacancies occur in important committees, there is only one important chairmanship to be scrambled for—that of the appropriations committee.

I have suffered as most women suffer, but I have cured myself. Not immediately, but suddenly, I studied, experimented, investigated, searched the world for a cure for my own woman troubles.

What about your daughter—mother? Is it not your part to guard her, shield her from the exposure and humiliations of office treatment of the worst character. Shield your daughter—mother. My treatment is not a man medicine—not a harsh drug or violent tincture, but a pure, powerful, yet gentle remedial agent which cures and has cured thousands of cases of diseases of women—disturbed parts, displacement, enlarged channels, falling of the womb, heavy menstrual loss and clotting, painful periods, scanty flow and sharp, darts, dull aches, bearing down feeling, aching groin, whitish discharges and the myriad delicate disorders which bring anguish to a woman's mind.

And I found it. It cures the diseases of women. Women who yield to its strange power. The suffering, ailing ones of our sex are brought again to the full flush and glow of girlhood days.
Is there any real necessity for such an experience? Very seldom indeed. My Home Remedy has saved this dread ordeal to thousands of the worst character. Will you not let it save your daughter's pride and modesty? My free ten day's test treatment will convince you that your care for her was wisely taken—and maybe at the very time of all others most necessary to prevent, or cure beginning troubles of the worst character. Shield your daughter—mother. My treatment is not a man medicine—not a harsh drug or violent tincture, but a pure, powerful, yet gentle remedial agent which cures and has cured thousands of cases of diseases of women—disturbed parts, displacement, enlarged channels, falling of the womb, heavy menstrual loss and clotting, painful periods, scanty flow and sharp, darts, dull aches, bearing down feeling, aching groin, whitish discharges and the myriad delicate disorders which bring anguish to a woman's mind.

These are the afflictions cured in thousands of authenticated cases by Mrs. M. Sumner's Remedy for women—cures which are recorded—cures that keep cured, in fact and in truth. And in every one of all these cases I sent the proof test treatment complete and free, absolutely, every penny of the expense was mine, not one single cent was paid for by anyone except by me alone. I will do as much for you, my sister, just as much for you as for any other woman who you are, or where you are, or how poor or how rich. That makes no difference to me—my sister.
Give yourself (your ailing body self) the benefit of your doubt, my sister, not the burden of it. For I will make you all your nature should have been well—happy—robust and plump, with all the color, glow and life of healthy womanhood.
One line from your hand, to tell me where to send it—just your name and the address—and the cure will come by return mail—all sealed and prepaid—plain wrapping.
Do not hide your womanhood from me and shrink within yourself to suffer and sink down more and more. You must not do that. Only let me hear from you. Do. For I know that you will be well—and shall be.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

digests what you eat, takes the strain off of the heart, and contributes nourishment, strength and health to every organ of the body. Cures indigestion, dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the stomach and Digestive Tract, Nervous Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.
MRS. LORING NICHOLS, Penn. fan, N. Y.

I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me.

COAL FAMINE THREATENED

Railroad Companies Declare They Have Not the Cars.

Indianapolis, Nov. 18.—The state is threatened with a fuel shortage owing to the inability of the railroads to get the coal away from the mines. The scarcity of cars which was noticeable six weeks ago has grown more alarming and the railroad companies are unable to give any definite assurance of relief. The situation has resulted in a rapid increase in prices and coal is selling higher to all classes of consumers than at this time a year ago. It is understood that there are several hundred carloads of coal in the Evansville & Terre Haute, Southern Indiana, Big Four, Vandalia and Chicago & Eastern Illinois yards at Terre Haute that have been standing on the tracks for two weeks. The roads do not seem to have the motive power to get them away. It is said that but few mines are being operated more than two days a week, and some companies have served notice that they will not enter into contracts to deliver coal at a certain price. It is not unlikely that at the beginning of the winter the conditions will be almost as bad as they were during the cold waves last year, when agents for dealers went from mine to mine bidding for coal on the car. The unusually heavy call for cars for all lines of trade has caused the shortage of flats for coal. The railroads are already beginning to confiscate what coal they need for their own business, and it is reported that many manufacturers will have to shut down if car shortage is not relieved within a very short time.

What Bradstreet Has to Say of Week's Developments.
New York, Nov. 18.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade today says: Activity is still the keynote of the industrial and commercial situation. Colder weather and the coming Christmas holidays have caused a heavy distribution in practically every section of the country save in the Northwest, where the rather high temperatures and railway congestion prevent the fullest developments. Railway earnings are enormous, but the widespread blockades are assuming a serious phase and tend to curtail production in some industrial lines. Manufacturing lines are remarkably active. Consumption of iron and steel is proceeding at an enormous rate with no apparent sign of a let-up in the immediate future.

Outdoor construction work is being conducted on an enormous scale, and a shortage of labor is reported from many sections. Commodity prices are steady at close to the highest. Collections on the whole are classed as good. Real estate the country over is very brisk. The outlook for spring trade is very promising, and, in short, all advices indicate the existence of flourishing conditions, the South, which is in better shape financially than for years, being particularly prominent in this respect.

Mitchell Declares Himself.

McDonald, Pa., Nov. 18.—All the coal mines in and around McDonald were closed at noon yesterday in honor of John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and fully 3,000 miners crowded the streets to welcome their leader. President Mitchell was enthusiastically cheered when in his speech at Lafayette hotel he repeated his statement made several days ago that "as long as I remain in my official character I will never submit to a reduction of the present wage scale."

Excitement at Bedford.

Bedford, Ind., Nov. 18.—Dr. Oliver Haugh, who is under arrest in Dayton, O., charged with the murder of his father, mother and brother, and afterward cremating their bodies, is now thought to be the slayer of Miss Sarah Schaefer, the Bedford school teacher, whose body was found in an alley Jan. 22, 1904. This fact was disclosed to the authorities in Bedford by the Dayton detectives after an investigation in which it was learned that Haugh was in Bedford at the time of the Schaefer murder. The communication has caused no little excitement among the citizens of Bedford.

Fire completely wiped out the business portion of the town of Woodburn, Ia., causing a loss placed at $130,000.

Bedford, Ind., Nov. 18.—Dr. Oliver Haugh, who is under arrest in Dayton, O., charged with the murder of his father, mother and brother, and afterward cremating their bodies, is now thought to be the slayer of Miss Sarah Schaefer, the Bedford school teacher, whose body was found in an alley Jan. 22, 1904. Guilty of Manslaughter.

Shelbyville, Ind., Nov. 18.—After considering the case for fifteen hours, the jury in the trial of Daniel Wilkins, charged with the murder of Harvey Babb, returned a verdict finding Wilkins guilty of manslaughter. Wilkins, who is twenty-eight years old, was sentenced to the reformatory to serve from two to fourteen years. Wilkins' plea was self-defense. He traced his wife and Babb to a cornfield on the afternoon of Sept. 3 and shot Babb to death.

GATHERING OF THE CLANS

Pre-Organization Talk Calls Republican Leaders to Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Nov. 18.—The Claypool hotel was the scene of the meeting of a number of prominent Republican leaders today, owing to the presence of Senator James A. Hendricks, who arrived here last night from Louisville. He will probably remain over Sunday in conference with political friends. Chairman James P. Goodrich and other prominent party leaders were here today to see him relative to the contest that is now going on over the state organization. Vice President Fairbanks has started for Washington, but will probably not arrive there before the middle of next week, as he will stop in Springfield, Ohio, over Sunday to visit his mother. It is understood that the vice president expects to return to Indianapolis during the holidays to attend the biennial party love-feast.

Senator Albert J. Beveridge was the recipient of very hearty greetings from five men who are much interested in the statehood bills. C. C. Jones, chairman of the recent joint statehood convention at Oklahoma City; Senator Marum, Woodward, Okla.; Thomas Doyle, Perry, Okla.; Robert Lowry, Stillwell, Okla., and W. H. Anderson, Lawton, Okla., members of a delegation from Indian Territory and Oklahoma that called on President Roosevelt the first of the week regarding the joint statehood bill for the two territories, stopped here en route home for a conference with Senator Beveridge, who is chairman of the senate committee on territories. Senator Beveridge is the author of the joint statehood bill, and the members of the delegation said they look on him as their strongest advocate. They expressed regret that a joint statehood measure for Arizona and New Mexico will be linked to their bill, as they believe it prevented Indian Territory and Oklahoma from being made a state at the last session. Senator Beveridge assured them of his earnest support of the measure. "Certainly my part of the bill, affecting Indian Territory and Oklahoma will be passed," he said. "I am confident also that the part providing for similar statehood between New Mexico and Arizona will succeed, though many interests are now lined up against this."

A still greater movement is to be inaugurated against the liquor traffic of the nation. At the session of the field workers of the National Anti-Saloon League here Dr. P. A. Baker of Columbus, Ohio, national superintendent, declared that $1,000,000 must be raised annually to carry out the work of the organization. Other members enthusiastically endorsed the proposition and an effort will be made to raise the amount. Dr. I. N. McCash of Des Moines, Ia., superintendent of the Iowa league, delivered an address on "Our Finances Income and Expenditures" during which he said the league needs means, men and good methods to succeed. It was the consensus of opinion that the work should be done on a business basis so as to command the respect and support of the business men. The conference of the field workers is preliminary to the national convention of the organization here next week, when nearly all of the prominent anti-saloon workers of the country will meet.

Reports are still confusing as to whether or not Fred Landis will be a candidate for renomination for congress in the Eleventh district. A dispatch from his home at Logansport says: "Mr. Landis could not be found today to verify the rumor that he was not a candidate for renomination, but, according to John M. Johnston, chairman of the county Republican central committee and manager of both of the Landis campaigns, the report that Landis would retire is exceedingly premature. Johnston says that Mr. Landis never made a statement that he would not be a candidate for renomination. "I am sure if you saw Mr. Landis," continued Mr. Johnston, "he would give you very little light on the subject, as I know he does not consider this the proper time to talk. There is no doubt but that there will be only one candidate."

David E. Sherrick, who was removed as auditor of state for shortage in his accounts, will not be tried here Nov. 27 for embezzlement and conspiracy to commit a felony, as the date for the hearing has been postponed until Dec. 14. Addison C. Harris, Sherrick's attorney, pleaded for a postponement in order that he might dispose of a case before the Hendricks county court. It was stated, however, by Prosecutor Benedict that it is the only postponement he will agree to, as he wants the case disposed of before the holidays.

TO FAMOUS FLOWER SHOW.

Excursions to Indianapolis over Pennsylvania Lines.

Wide-spread interest is manifested in this year's Indiana Floral Festival and Chrysanthemum Show in Indianapolis. There will be afternoon and evening concerts by the Indianapolis Military Band. The exhibits are expected to surpass all previous displays. They include unusually fine orchids, said to be the richest representatives of those wonderful flowers. The display of American Beauties alone will be worth going miles to see. A striking new feature will be a enormous French Chrysanthemum banked or mossed tables. Thousands of electric lights will illuminate the Exposition. Special low fare excursions tickets to Indianapolis for this event will be sold over Pennsylvania Lines from stations in Indiana November 15th and 16th. Further information may be obtained from Pennsylvania Lines ticket agents. For programs of the festival address Secretary Irwin Bertermann, 241 Massachusetts Avenue, Indianapolis.
